

EDMONTON LETTER

(By G. H. Stout)

Edmonton, March 3.—Bigger and Bitter the 1938 budget is now on the desks of members in the legislature and soon will be on the doorstep of Alberta taxpayers. The amount to be voted totals $22,181,891.25, according to the estimates, with a deficit of $1,067,000 forecast for the year ending March 31, 1939, and with a loss of about $1,000,000 expected for the fiscal twelve months ending March 31st next.

The new provincial budget, presented by treasurer S. W. Low, last Friday increases taxes in many brackets, but it makes no provision for paying off any of its maturing bonds of Alberta amounting to more than $6,000,000 to date, nor for paying interest charges on bonds in excess of its half rate put into effect two years ago and ruled illegal by the courts. No sinking fund is set aside for any repayments, and only $700,000 will be paid on $8,000,000 worth of savings certificates due last year one million was paid.

Brand new taxes are—Security tax levied on mortgages, agreements of sale, etc. at a rate of two percent on principal amounts, tax of two cents an acre on wild lands, and a tax of three cents an acre on mineral lands. The estimated revenue respectively is $100,000, $45, and $250,000, whereas it is expected the new sources of revenue should yield more than $2,000,000 annually.

Increased increment, succession duties, and income taxes are raised substantially with the additional revenue estimated at about $250,000. Gasoline taxes are expected to give $2,585,000, up $255,000 over last year. Liquor profits $1,000,000 more at $2,600,000, automobile licenses advanced $100,000 to $1,170,000, and truck licenses $65,000 higher at $365,000.

The provincial sales tax suspended last August was not restored to private member opposition, but other taxation is up about $600,000, making the collectible levy heavier in Alberta's history than the anticipated deficit is considered.

Provision is made for increasing seasonal allowances of 62 members of the legislature $200 each, the total for legislative requirements being set at $121,685.00.

The Social Credit Board takes on more financial and administrative powers under the new budget, the carrying charge being doubled this year with a vote of $100,000. Last year it was $50,000. The most expensive are provided to the extent of $20,000, and salaries, and substantial allowances for members set at nearly $30,000. No salary "volunteers" are made by any officials at the board, as are in effect throughout all other departments of government. For instance Commissioner L. B. Hyatt gets it in full, together with $5,000 for travelling expenses. A minister with a $6,000 salary in comparison would get only $5,320. After many years these "voluntary contributions" of civil servant in lowest salary brackets are to be exempt this year, the "volunteers" to get $170,000 more in consequence.

Administration of the marketing and credit act will be turned over to the social credit board, estimates reveal, the board thus becoming administrative as well as advisory.

Highway expenditure will be roughly $1,000,000, the same as in 1937 with the federal government expected to come across with another million. Tabling of the Local Planning Bill, W. A. Fallow with inefficiency and extravagance in 1936, probably will draw fire during the budget debate.

Establishment of local credit unions, or "baby banks" is provided for by special legislation brought down last week, with the expectation that these unions eventually will be able to finance co-operative enterprises. It is reported that James Pike, former bank manager, will be supervisor of the Credit Union Act.

Setting up a new board of control for handling the fluid milk industry in Alberta is proposed in a report submitted to the House by a special committee working on an inquiry last year. In recommending that control of the milk industry be taken from the Public Utilities Board, the report charges the board with failure to reduce enormous duplications in the service and thereby cut costs to consumers. House members of the special committee were W. B. King, Cochrane, David Lush, Empress, and Wm. Masson, Whitecourt.

In his budget speech, Hon. Solon Low stressed the need of lifting the taxation load on land and property, but in no way could his summary be taken as indicating that steps were being taken to bring about a new economic order under Social Credit. Opposition critics insisted later in the debate. Charges were made that the budget was even more orthodox than in 1937, when private members on the government side revolted over its terms, and held it up many days.

Liberal Leader E. L. Gray, who opened the debate Monday, declared the budget made it abundantly clear that no new order was to be established, but that taxation was to be pyramided until the breaking point was reached in Alberta. This was the last session in which plans could be carried out by the government to inaugurate a new scheme. Even hours were taken from cattle and sheep raising by government men for more taxes, referring to bills introduced to penalize farmers selling horned cattle, and to seize overages at grain storage places. The wild lands tax levy was strongly opposed by Mr. Gray, who was deputy minister of municipal affairs in 1934-5, as being wrong in principle, for it would force more land into crop production at a time when excess production was reducing prices.

Continued wrangle during the week over the feed shortage in drought areas finally ended in the government asking Dominion officials for more assistance. Once more government forces endorsed a resolution supporting Ottawa as being the best way to deal with the problem for Urwin and Powell, Liberals, Conservatives and Independents voting against the issue being revived in the House. A resolution asking members and ministers to cut their indemnities and salaries, moved by A. E. MacLellan, B.C. Innisfail, was stood over, as was another by A. E. Fee, B.C. Sedgewick, proposing bonding of lawyers.

Red Wings Win First Game—

The death of John Knight, highly respected citizen of the Strathmore district occurred in the Holy Cross Hospital Tuesday Feb. 22, after a long illness.

The Knight home is set in a garden of beautiful flowers, the happy home of Mr. and Mrs. Knight, Sr.

The funeral, held from St. Michaels Church, Friday afternoon and conducted by the Rev. Geo. W. Lang was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends. Jacques Funeral Home was in charge. Interment took place in Strathmore Cemetery.

FIVE YEARS FOR PORK BASK.
Sentenced to Port Saskatchewan for 2 years, for breaking, entering and theft at Fair Play School and for 3 years for theft of a drive belt valued at $85 from L. E. Albertson, farmer of Langdon district and for 30 days for trapping muskrat with out a permit, Albin Louis Saknaband was tried and convicted by Magistrate T. M. W. Monday. Each sentence to run consecutively.

HIGHLIGHTS—No election appropriation was included in the estimates—The regular vote for Government House was included, so the Lieutenant Governor won't have to move—The customary $225,000 was provided for maintenance of the R.C.M.P. in Alberta, as Joe Urwin, in Port Saskatchewan, may not get his $500,000 "Social Credit Police Force" this year.

Entries have increased, more trophies are being given, and a record turn-out is expected for this year.

have been received for the tournament, which commences March 7, from nearly Seattle, including Lee Stiel, who won both handicap and scratch events last year, and from Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver. "THE SEED GRAIN WE SOW"

By Howard G. Wright of Aldridge,

President Alberta Seed Growers' Association

There are many questions that enter our minds at this time of the year and naturally, we all wonder what the outcome of the next seven or eight months will be.

There are many things that we, as farmers, have to contend with and many hazards beyond our control, but there is one factor that is of the greatest importance in the successful handling of a grain farm, that is dependent under our control and that is "The Seed Grain We Sow." Good, well-matured seed of the right variety, well-cleaned

has always been recommended down through the ages and is just as true today as in the time of Pliny in ancient Rome. Today we must pay more attention to the variety we grow and its purity. The Canada Grain Act, which controls the marketing of commercial grain, has been changed from time to time but recent changes make it very necessary, if you want to get into the top grades, to grow a crop

that is reasonably true to variety. This is a good step and we,

as grain growers, have a duty to perform to ourselves and to the country in keeping up the quality of our export products.

We suggest that you use some of our Association's seed as a foundation for your crop and secrete the best result. Our slogan and aim is "A Seed Plot on your Farm in 1938." Buy enough seed to plant a small field say from three to twenty acres, depending on how big a farm you operate.

Pick a nice piece of breaking or fallow and clean your drill carefully. Take good care of this plot and use the grain you thresh to cover your entire crop the next year. This is a practical method that hundreds of grain growers follow year after year with satisfaction. We would like to see YOU do it this year.

A price list of our growers' stock is issued twice a season. See your local elevator agent or write to our Secretary, E. H. Buckingham, Edmonton, for a copy. The grain companies are all interested in the "Better Seed Week" and any agent will be glad to discuss this question with you and help you secure your seed supply of the variety recommended for your particular district. See our latest circular at your elevator.

INCREASED GERMINATION MAKES SEED GO FURTHER

Eleven million bushels of wheat, oats and barley are being distributed by the provincial governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta to provide seed for the crop of 1938 in districts where the devastating drought of 1937 left farmers destitute. Some harvested fewer bushels than they planted and the meagre supply of shrivelled grain too weak to germinate, served only to partially satisfy the food craving of their starving cattle.

The governmental measure for aiding these unfortunate farmers will be administered with economy, says B. Leslie Emslie, and none will receive a quantity of seed grain adequate for the sowing of all the acres he would wish to put in crop. Consequently, the desire to make the seed grain go as far as possible is bound to result in light seeding on many acres. There is a way to make the seed go further, a way known to all agronomists in the government service and to many of the farmers who will be recipients of the bounty. It is through the treatment of the seed with organic mercury dust at the rate of only one-half ounce per bushel. This inexpensive treatment not only controls bunt of wheat, covered smut and stripe of barley and the smuts of oats but protects against root and foot rots, thereby promoting vigorous germination and increased yields.

Government representatives considered the advisability of pre-treating all seed sent out but were deterred by the fear that some might be tempted to feed part of it to livestock, in amounts which might prove toxic. Fortunately, the cost of treatment is so small that the farmer need not be denied the advantage.
